Ba-Ba-Reeba Birthday

Lincoln Park

We realize our views on birthday celebrations may be a bit traditional, but the last we had heard, you're supposed to receive gifts on your big day—not hand them out. That's where Café Ba-Ba-Reeba (2024 N. Halsted St. 773-935-5000) confuses us a bit—in the best way possible—when they give away free cupcakes, sangria and $10 gift cards for its 25th anniversary. The restaurant has long blessed nearby DePaul University students with tasty, inexpensive tapas, like the stand-out goat cheese with tomato sauce and garlic bread or the beef tenderloin served with potato chips and bleu cheese. Happy birthday, indeed!

When: 11 a.m.-10 p.m. Sunday

Handsome Furs

Lincoln Park

It's no Lollapalooza or Pitchfork—and that's a great thing. Tomorrow Never Knows, the annual indie rock showcase at Schubas (3159 N. Southport Ave. 773-525-2508), has grown considerably, expanding to sister venue Lincoln Hall (2424 N. Lincoln Ave. 773-525-2501) last year and Metro (3730 N. Clark St. 773-549-0203) this year. Catch Canadian duo Handsome Furs at Lincoln Hall for a night of pop-synth goodness, reminiscent of a soundtrack from a long-lost John Hughes teen movie.

When: 9 p.m. Saturday. Sold out, but you can attend if you buy a 5-day Tomorrow Never Knows pass.

NEW ON THE SCENE

Loop / River North / Gold Coast

Jersey Mike's

200 W. Monroe St. 312-263-0830
Quick-service, Jersey-inspired sandwich and sub shop that finally makes its way into the metro area after populating suburbs for years. Try your sub "Mike's Way": shredded lettuce, onions, tomatoes, red-wine vinegar, olive oil and spices.

Public House

400 N. State St. 312.265.1240
Beer-centric pub from the owners of River North stock traders bar Bull & Bear. The venue is more than twice the size of its sibling, and the dozen booths adopt Bull & Bear's signature self-serve beer taps.

Privet

937 N. Rush St. 312-255-0022
Uberhip nightclub whose name is a variation on the Russian word for "hello." Good luck getting past the red rope, though: Guests are only allowed in through personal connections to maintain an exclusive, intimate atmosphere.

BEAR DOWN

Chicago Bears vs. Seattle Seahawks

They say there's power in numbers, so round up the crew and head to the bar to cheer on the Chicago Bears as they go head-to-head with the Seattle Seahawks in the playoffs. Metromix readers named Timothy O'Toole's (622 N. Fairbanks Ct. 312-642-0700) Chicago's top Bears bar, and watching one game at the Streeterville tavern will explain why. Enjoy the 60 flat-screen TVs and deals like $16 Miller family buckets and bottomless mimosas or bloody marys.
When: Noon Sunday.

JEN KIM
ritaredeye@tribune.com

Seal the deal with these flicks

It's movie night with your girl and, let's face it, you're feeling pretty horny. The couch is beckoning. But you've watched the "The Notebook" so many times, you no longer feel like a man. And the thought of seeing Kate Hudson fully clothed (yet again!) in one of her myriad rom-coms makes you want to break the Blu-ray.

You ask yourself, "How bad do I need to get some action?" Bad. The good news is women sometimes will stray from their trusty rom-coms for these exceptions. The best part? You already love these films.

'The Matrix'

This is sci-fi porn, plain and simple—amazing fight scenes, Ray-Bans and skin-tight black leather. The Wachowski brothers have a direct line into the matrices of your lady's loins with this thought-provoking film that combines sexiness and action that all guys love. And never underestimate the power of Keanu Reeves on chicks. Remember such vomit-inducing classics as "Sweet November" and "Something's Gotta Give"? You don't, but she does.

'Purple Rain'

What girl can resist crushed purple velvet and the human enigma that is Prince or the artist who used to be the weird hieroglyphic shape formally known as Prince? None we've met. Which means "Purple Rain" will get you laid, simply because it's weird. Sure, the plot doesn't make a whole lot of sense, the costumes even less so, and let's not even get into the endless repertoire of sexually graphic songs, but it was the '80s—the only era when weird actually was sexy.

'Secretary'

This oddball movie stars Maggie Gyllenhaal—aka Hollywood's least-threatening hot girl—in her breakout role, in which she plays Lee Holloway, a pretty but socially awkward secretary who learns to love the ins and outs of a BDSM relationship. We all know nothing gets a girl's juices flowing like deep, meaningful art house movies that always make it to Sundance but never exactly make sense.

'Shaun of the Dead'

This satire combines the gore you love with loads of British humor, which is the perfect way to get a girl in the mood. And how about another lesser-known aphrodisiac? Fear. It's a known fact: Girls like to scream, and when they scream, they like to grab on to the nearest thing—such as a carton of ice cream, their pet Chihuahua or a man.

'Driving Miss Daisy'

Nothing screams sex like Jessica Tandy, Dan Aykroyd and Morgan Freeman. But don't take it from me. A recent study out of the University of Texas suggests that for females, aging is an aphrodisiac. Researchers say that beginning in their late 20s, women "think more about sex, have more frequent and intense sexual fantasies [and] are more willing to engage in intercourse." Bonus: The movie won the Academy Award for best picture. JEN KIM IS A REDEYE SPECIAL CONTRIBUTOR.

WORDS

OF THE WEEK

Six people were killed last week and more were injured—including Rep. Gabrielle Giffords—in a shooting rampage in Tucson, Ariz. Here are some of the most memorable quotes of the past few days. NEWS SERVICES CONTRIBUTED.

“Rather than pointing fingers or assigning blame, let’s use this occasion to expand our moral imaginations, to listen to each other more carefully, to sharpen our instincts for empathy and remind ourselves of all the ways that our hopes and dreams are bound together.”

—President Obama, memorial for the victims and rally for survivors on Wednesday

“Within hours of a tragedy unfolding, journalists and pundits should not manufacture a blood libel that serves only to incite the very hatred and violence they purport to condemn.”

—Sarah Palin, in a video released Wednesday

“It was a miracle to witness.”

—Sen. Kirsten Gillibrand, who—according to CNN—was holding Giffords’ hand Wednesday when she first opened her eyes

“Jared struck me as a young man who craved attention and acceptance.”

—Roxanne Osler, the mother of a young man who was friends with Jared Loughner for a time

“This is my genocide school ... I haven’t forgotten the teacher that gave me a B for freedom of speech.”

—Jared Loughner, the man accused in the shootings, in a YouTube video from September

NFL PLAYOFFS

BEARS VS. SEATTLE NOON SUNDAY, FOX

INSTANT REPLAY

RedEye

What a season. Julius Peppers emerged as Chicago's newest sports superstar. Devin Hester set an NFL career record. And Corey Wootton ended Brett Favre's career with one last, skull-rattling hit. Whether you're reliving the season as the Bears approach their postseason debut Sunday at Soldier Field against Seattle or just now tuning in (don't worry, we won't tell), RedEye takes you back through all 16 games. Here are the top moments from each game, plus the postgame reaction from coach Lovie Smith.

SEPT. 12
SCOTT STRAZZANTE/
TRIBUNE FILE

SEPT. 12

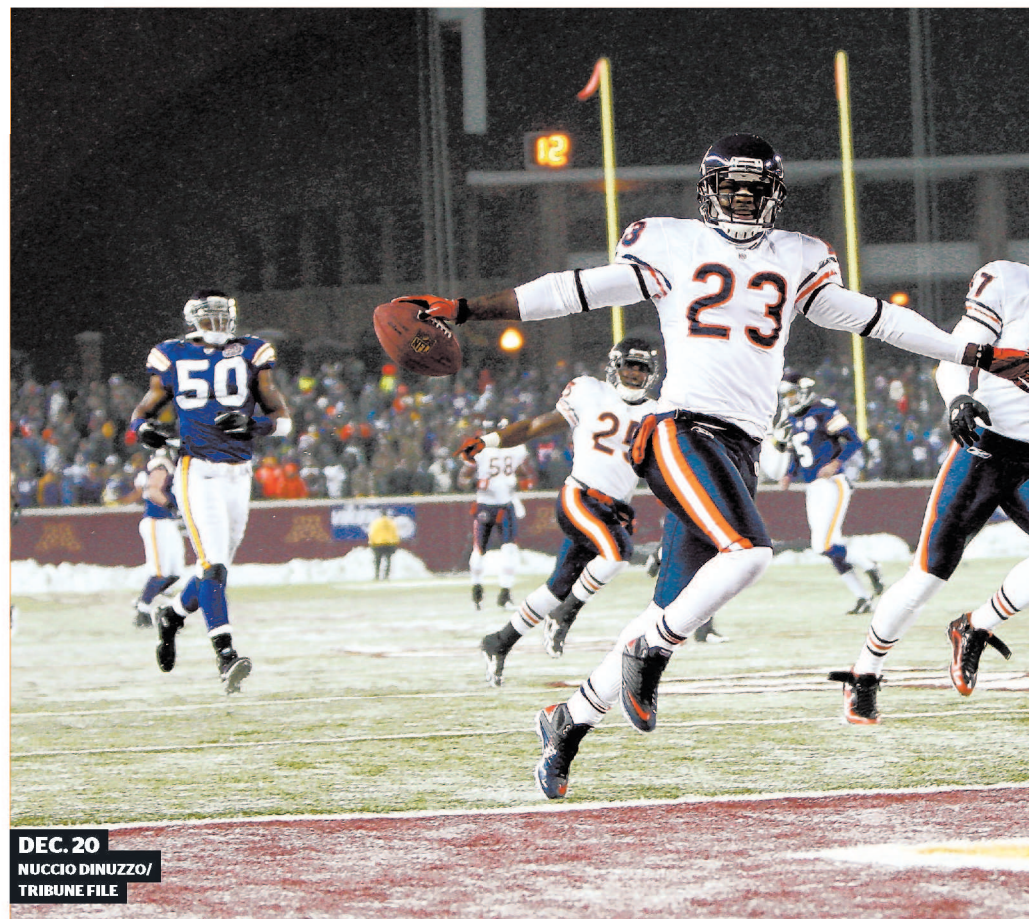

Bears 19, Detroit 14

★★★★ The season opener gave the phrase "complete the process of the catch" its moment of fame as pundits debated the play and the rule for days. Calvin Johnson's non-touchdown with 24 seconds left—he caught the ball in the end zone but let go when the ball touched the ground, thus rendering the pass incomplete—spared the Bears an embarrassing loss to the NFC North's perennial bottom feeder. Coach says: "That call helped us win the game at the end."

SEPT. 19

Bears 27, Dallas 20

★★★★ It was the Bears—not Tony Romo and the rest of the star-laden Cowboys—who looked like the preseason Super Bowl favorites in this one. Jay Cutler appeared in complete control with three touchdown passes, the defense forced three turnovers and the offense committed none—just the way Smith likes it.

DEC. 20
NUCCIO DINUZZO/

Coach says: "We've been saying exactly what type [of team] we are, and that's a good football team."

SEPT. 27

Bears 20, Green Bay 17

★★★★ A Monday night showdown for first place with the archrival Packers? Peppers blocking a field goal? Hester punctuating a 62-yard punt return for a score with Soldier Field's version of the "Lambeau Leap"? Robbie Gould kicking the winning field goal with four seconds left? Now we believe.

Coach says: "It's just good to see a team play 60 minutes of ball."

OCT. 3

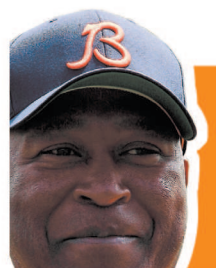

N.Y. Giants 17, Bears 3

★★★ Cutler took this one on the chin—and every other part of his body—to the tune of nine sacks and a concussion. He didn't return for the second half, and the Bears offense looked lost the whole night.

Coach says: "If there's something positive, it only counts for one loss."

LOVIE METER

Lovie Smith isn't exactly animated. Some have even compared the Bears coach to a robot. (And for the record, how cool would it be for Chicago to have the only robotic coach in the NFL? Just sayin'.) Anyway, Smith's stoicism on and off the field often leaves fans straining to decipher his true feelings. After an exhaustive analysis of the 2010-11 season, we think we've learned to read the nuances of Smith's speech and demeanor. If you squint, you might pick up on the subtle differences in his facial expressions that coincide with these four emotions.

ECSTATIC

DISAPPOINTED

DEVASTATED

OCT. 10 Bears 23, Carolina 6

Peppers wasn't going to let four interceptions by backup QB Todd Collins ruin his Carolina homecoming. The defensive end showed why the Bears signed him to a $91.5 million deal with his sprawling interception after tipping a Jimmy Clausen pass.

Coach says: "It's good to see the guys get it done. That has to give us more confidence."

OCT. 17 Seattle 23, Bears 20

Call this the "do nothing game." The Bears had no sacks to their credit, no first downs and no takeaways. Not even an 89-yard punt return for a touchdown by Hester could keep the Bears from losing this stinker.

Coach says: "Everything concerns me on a day like today."

OCT. 24 Washington 17, Bears 14

What if? Even with Cutler throwing four interceptions—all to DeAngelo Hall—the Bears might have survived if only Smith challenged an apparent score on a 1-yard Cutler sneak in the third quarter. Cutler fumbled on the play,

DEC. 12
GETTY IMAGES FILE

NOV. 28
MCT FILE

and the Bears never again came close to the go-ahead score.

Coach says: "Yes, I should have [challenged the play]. ... I need to be able to make that call."

NOV. 7 Bears 22, Buffalo 19

The cure for two bad losses? How about a "road" game against a winless team. Earl Bennett caught the go-ahead TD pass midway through the fourth quarter in Toronto. Yes, Toronto. With a roof and everything.

Coach says: "It's hard getting a win. So that's why we feel so good about this."

NOV. 14 Bears 27, Minnesota 13

This is getting interesting! Devin Hester ran all over the Vikings and had his first offensive touchdown since the game at Dallas as the Bears improved to 6-3 and moved back into a first-place tie with the Packers for the division lead.

DEC. 26
SCOTT STRAZZANTE/
TRIBUNE FILE

Coach says: "We're in first place in our division, and that's our goal."

NOV. 18 Bears 16, Miami 0

Thursday night games aren't so tough when you're facing the other team's third-string quarterback. Just hand off to Matt Forte and Chester Taylor 36 times, and you're home free to becoming the first NFL franchise to notch 700 wins.

Coach says: "Getting a shutout is just tough no matter where you are, especially on the road."

NOV. 28 Bears 31, Philadelphia 26

With a resurgent Michael Vick getting MVP buzz for the Eagles, it was Cutler who played like a champ. He threw four touchdowns, while Vick tossed his first interception of the season—to Chris Harris—and was held to only 44 rushing yards.

Coach says: "I would definitely say our arrow's pointed up when you win four games in a row the way we have."

DEC. 5 Bears 24, Detroit 20

What is it with the refs and Bears-Lions games? Trailing early in the fourth quarter, the Bears got an assist that led to the go-ahead TD when Ndamukong Suh was flagged for a blow to Cutler's head.

Coach says: "Defensively, in the second half we challenged the guys to play the way we're capable of playing as much as anything, and they did that."

DEC. 12 New England 36, Bears 7

Ouch! Playing through a bona fide blizzard as if it were as a pleasant spring day, Tom Brady and the Patriots raced to a 33-0 halftime lead and never backed off.

Coach says: "We were beaten by a good football team today. ... Some days, this happens."

DEC. 20 Bears 40, Minnesota 14

Playoffs? Playoffs! The Bears clinched the NFC North title in a game that was moved to the University of Minnesota after the Metrodome roof collapsed. Hester returned a punt 64 yards to set the NFL record with 14 career touchdowns on kickoff and punt returns. And Wootton one day will tell his grandkids that his first NFL sack also was the last play of Favre's career.

Coach says: "This was a great job by our football team all week."

DEC. 26 Bears 38, N.Y. Jets 34

There's no fooling these Bears. Trying to avoid kicking to Hester—who can blame them?—the Jets failed to convert a fake punt when Rashied Davis broke up the pass. Jay Cutler tossed a 40-yard pass to Johnny Knox on the next play for a score. Ballgame.

Coach says: "We want to be in this position right here, with an 11-4 record getting ready to play another NFC North opponent."

JAN. 2 Green Bay 10, Bears 3

With their playoff spot locked in, the Bears had nothing to gain. The Packers were playing to get into the postseason. Who didn't see this coming? At least a Gould field goal kept the Bears from getting shut out as they finished the regular season with an 11-5 record.

Coach says: "I'm disappointed in the loss today, but not disappointed in what the team has been able to accomplish up until this point."

‘Another Year’ just another movie

Throughout the four seasons of the title, happily married couple Tom (Jim Broadbent) and Gerri (Ruth Sheen) enjoy their uncomplicated bliss while discussing the problems of various friends and family. Most notable are Ken (Peter Wight), a schlub who doesn't want to get older, and likable but exhausting lush Mary (Lesley Manville), who very much expected to have a man and own a home by now.

The buzz: Writer-director Mike Leigh's last film, 2008's "Happy-Go-Lucky," was that year's best and featured a performance from Sally Hawkins that should have won an Oscar, but wasn't even nominated. "Another Year" looks like another gently plotted but possibly profound slice-of-life film, with Oscar buzz behind Manville's performance.

The verdict: A surprising miscalculation by Leigh. Splendidly acted but thoroughly underwhelming, "Another Year" strips down the nearly plotless approach of "Happy-Go-Lucky" to such basic, normal life activities that almost nothing of significance happens. Broadbent's as compassionate as Manville is heartbreaking and lonely. Leigh recognizes that getting older is scarier if life seems behind schedule (and is full of lingering regrets), and that only the young are OK with living in a young people's world. Still, few characters experience anything interesting; this family clearly has a past, but it needs more present. MATT PAIS IS THE METROMIX MOVIES PRODUCER. MPAIS@TRIBUNE.COM

Green with envy

If you make a fashion resolution this year, make it to embrace color. And since all the talk at multiplexes is about Seth Rogen's action-comedy "The Green Hornet," why not start with rich shades from emerald to jade? Green looks great with every skin tone and might land you a masked hero of your own. JOANNA GUSTAFSON FOR REDEYE

Rogen, Chou dish on new 'Green Hornet'

Reuters

Comedian Seth Rogen stars in the 3-D action-comedy "The Green Hornet," based on characters that appeared in a 1930s radio serial, a 1960s TV show and a comic book series.

Rogen, who co-wrote the movie, stars as Britt Reid, a slacker son of a media magnate who dies mysteriously. Britt befriends his dad's employee, Kato, and the duo reinvent themselves as crime fighters with Britt becoming The Green Hornet and Kato his sidekick. At the same time, they both have eyes for their new secretary, Lenore Case (Cameron Diaz).

Taiwanese singer Jay Chou is a superstar across Asia, and he makes his English-language acting debut in "Green Hornet." He and Rogen chatted about teaming up for the movie, Chou's command of English and co-star Cameron Diaz.

How did you two meet?

Seth Rogen: We met over Skype, like most people do these days. In looking for Kato, we got a hold of Jay and set up a time to read one of the scenes over Skype. He was in Taiwan and I was in Los Angeles. We read the scene where we're arguing with each other in my guest house.

Did you know any English when you began shooting?

JC: Just "What the hell?" and some bad words.

SR: It was amazing how much he learned. But he understood it for the most part. We went through each scene and made sure he understood what was happening.

JC: Seth is very smart. Because he wrote the script, he could change anything. My English is not so good and sometimes [my lines] were difficult to say. Seth would say, "OK, let's change it."

You two are together throughout most of the film. What were some of the biggest challenges you endured?

SR: There's a big car chase at the end and we shot a lot of that in front of blue screen. That was difficult because for a week straight, it was just us sitting in a car and people yelling, "Explosion on the left side!" or "You're turning right!" And we're leaning all over the place.

JC: For me, the challenge was fighting with Seth. To me, he's like my brother and because of that, fighting with him was very strange. I didn't want to kick him, but I had to.

If there's a sequel, what would you like to see in it?

JC: Cameron Diaz. More romance for Kato.

Ah yes, Kato has that one scene where he tries to get close to Lenore. She appears to like him a bit.

JC: It's my favorite scene in the movie!

Meli Cafe on Grand
540 N. Wells St.
312-527-1850

(2 out of 4 eggs)

Hours: 6 a.m.-3 p.m. daily
Reservations: Not accepted

A sweet start

By Lisa Arnett

Named after the Greek word for honey, Meli Cafe has been feeding Greektown for years with its massive menu of breakfast dishes served from early morning well into the afternoon. The place draws such a crowd on weekends that we weren't surprised to hear about plans for a second location in River North. We stopped in on a recent snowy morning seeking sustenance.

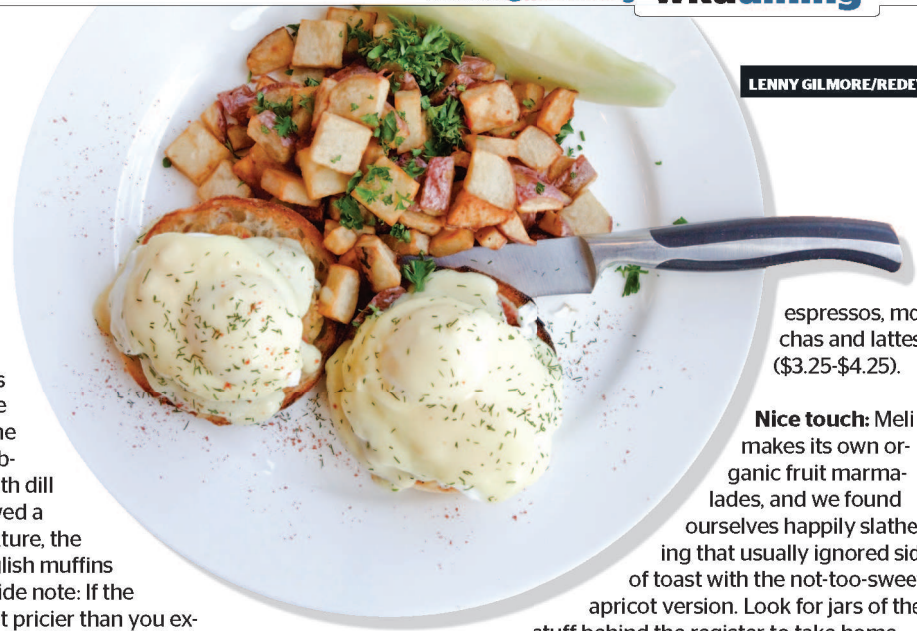

The vibe: Not especially hip but quite pleasant, Meli's golden-walled dining room decked with oversized flower paintings provides a welcome shot of spring just off the slushy sidewalks of Wells and Grand. Near the entrance, there's ample seating along the coffee and juice bar for solo diners or espresso-sippers. The half '90s easy listening, half Christian rock soundtrack during our visit wouldn't offend anyone's grandma, with Amy Grant leading into Jars of Clay. Like the Greektown location, service is speedy and curt.

Sweet stuff: You'll find all the expected variations of fruit-topped pancakes, waffles and French toast, but for a true original, go for the honey cakes ($8.95). Made with a cinnamon and honey-laced cornmeal batter and topped with whipped honey butter and raw buckwheat honey, this dish does the cafe's name proud.

Signs of egg-cellence: More than a half-dozen choices each of skillet, scramblers, Benedicts, omelets and frittatas fill the multi-page menu. Though the cakes on our crab-cake Benedict with dill hollandaise skewed a bit gummy in texture, the house-made English muffins are a highlight. Side note: If the egg dishes are bit pricier than you expected, consider that Meli uses Eggland's Best organic eggs from cage-free chickens.

Day drinking: Meli's booze-free, but there's still plenty to drink courtesy of the lengthy juice bar menu. Wheatgrass shots ($3.25) and concoctions such as kiwi-mango-honey-orange ($4.75) are juiced to order. As a result, the concoctions couldn't be fresher, but ours were closer to room temperature than chilled.

Buzz factor: Lavazza Arabica coffee beans are ground to order ($2.35) and the coffee bar also turns out espressos, mochas and lattes ($3.25-$4.25).

Nice touch: Meli makes its own organic fruit marmalades, and we found ourselves happily slathering that usually ignored side of toast with the not-too-sweet apricot version. Look for jars of the stuff behind the register to take home.

Is it lunch time yet? The lunch portion of the menu is also served all day and runs the range from wraps to panini to burgers.

Bottom line: Brunchers who prefer pamper-me service won't find an indulgent experience here. But for hearty dishes made with top ingredients and a pace that will get you back home in time for football, Meli delivers.

Supersonic single

By Ann Powers

LOS ANGELES TIMES

Think of Britney Spears' new single, "Hold It Against Me," as an updated version of the hard-soft dynamic employed by Nirvana.

Instead of remaking rock by marrying punk's crashing chaos to invitingly Beatlesque melodies, Spears—or really, her billion-dollar producing duo, Max Martin and Dr. Luke—sustains her career on the cutting edge of dance-pop by blending the near-industrial beats and breakdowns of English grime music with a beatifically insipid chorus worthy of Martin's recently minted star, Taio Cruz.

"Hold It Against Me" hardly offers the most original come-on. The Bellamy Brothers—as they recently mentioned publicly—recorded a 1979 hit centered on the same phrase (based on an old Groucho Marx quip, "If I said you had a beautiful body, would you hold it against me?"), and the gentler elements of the Spears single have a similar soft-rock tinge. But Spears further proves her spiritual affinity for fellow trash icon Axl Rose when she turns the phrase "a little hazy" into a tiny heavy-metal explosion. And then there are the breaks that come late in the track, which, in this particular effort, offer the promise of something more.

SONG

Finally trading in gloss for sonic adventure in the song's last few seconds, Martin and Dr. Luke slice and dice Spears' incitements ("Drop it like a hood," she sneers) into a rapidly shifting mix of dry-ice synth lines and ammunition beats. Everything jumps. "Hold It Against Me" briefly transforms from the kind of pop smoothie whose inevitable omnipresence will soon make us want to vomit into a hit that actually could take the charts somewhere new.

But that part lasts just a few moments.

The 68th Annual Golden Globe Awards

7 p.m. Sunday, NBC

Thanks to a lot of film clip montages and who-really-cares categories, awards broadcasts can get awfully boring. Not so much with the Golden Globes, probably the only ceremony in which all our fave TV and movies stars are encouraged to drink heavily at their dinner tables. Host Ricky Gervais, too, doesn't fear the bottle. But he keeps the pace brisk and the jokes inappropriate. He'll manage to offend everyone in the crowd, and viewers love him for it.

Downton Abbey

8 p.m. Sunday, WTTW

This four-part story definitely deserves the "Masterpiece Classic" label. Written by Julian Fellowes ("Gosford Park"), the story follows a family of British aristocrats and their servants who live at Downton Abbey. As WWI approaches and the whole of British society seems to be changing, Robert Crawley fights to hold on to the family home. The changing times bring more twists and turns, backstabbing and heroics than you can count. Part 2 airs this week, so catch Part 1 online at pbs.org first. It's so worth it.

Director David Fincher shows in his new film that the first rule of Facebook is that everybody talks about Facebook. And a lot of talk can make for a dull movie. But the story of Facebook's creation is a fascinating look at a pop-culture phenomenon. And although some characters are so pompous and self-righteous you wouldn't agree to let any of them be your friend on Facebook, Aaron Sorkin's script is smart, crisp and wickedly witty. Lots of talk is fine when it's this interesting. RICK BENTLEY, MCT

Showroom of Compassion

Cake

Cake singer John McCrea's jaded, deadpan vocals used to camouflage all sorts of intentions, from the leering "Short Skirt, Long Jacket" to the ironic fake enthusiasm of "The Distance." On "Showroom of Compassion," McCrea apparently has less to hide. The single "Sick of You" is remarkably straightforward and catchy. The jaded delivery on the trudging "Federal Funding" matches the rocker's jaded take on the government. "Showroom of Compassion" could use a few more layers, but Cake certainly knows how to make the sale. GLENN GAMBOA, NEWSDAY

Bob's Burgers

7:30 p.m. Sunday, Fox

Fox launched its latest animated comedy last week with 9.4 million viewers, but I think many won't return. It just isn't good. Bob (H. Jon Benjamin), wife Linda (John Roberts), daughters Tina (Dan Mintz) and Louise (Kristin Schaal) and son Gene (Eugene Mirman) run a burger joint next to It's Your Funeral Home and Crematorium. It's a fun premise, but the show goes for easy "edgy" jokes (itchy crotches!) instead of using the unusual characters to build situational jokes that are much more effective—and funnier. Which star-studded NBA trio has more to love?

The Miami Heat's circus comes to the United Center on Saturday, and it's another chance for the Bulls to measure themselves against an Eastern Conference front-runner. The Heat's "big three" of LeBron James, Dwyane Wade and Chris Bosh arguably have the edge in on-court talent, but the Bulls' trio of Derrick Rose, Joakim Noah and Carlos Boozer is no slouch. With Noah injured, it won't be the truest test this time around. But that doesn't mean we can't compare them in other ways, RedEye faceoff-style.

Enter a number between 1 and 9 in the empty squares. The clues are the numbers in the white circles that give the sum of the solution numbers: above the line are across clues; below the line are down clues. Thus, a clue of 3 will produce a solution of 2 and 1, and a 5 will produce 4 and 1, or 2 and 3, but, of course, which squares they go in will depend on the solution of a clue in the other direction. No digit can be repeated in a solution. Answer at redevechicago.com/puzzles. EDITED BY MICHAEL MEPHAM

They've got the look—but what does it take to be a Dior model?

Natalie, ma chérie! It-girl-slash-mom-to-be Natalie Portman is the new spokesmodel for Miss Dior Cherie perfume, and she's wearing nothing but a black bow in her hair (and some perfume, we assume) in the just-released print ad. Ooh la la! And this could be just the start of a new, scandalous Portman—the accompanying Dior TV ad, directed by Sofia Coppola, debuts in March. Not that the gorgeous "Black Swan" star needs an ego boost, but as a Dior model, she's now in some elite company. Other past and present models for the brand include Gisele Bündchen, Marion Cotillard, Charlize Theron and Sharon Stone. Want to be part of this glamour squad? RedEye very unscientifically but painstakingly broke down what it takes to join their ranks, written up in a handy powder-puff chart—heaven knows these ladies don't eat pie.

"If I just called her 'Baby,' then she'll love the movie 'Dirty Dancing,' but she won't know her proper name," Vaughn said on "The Ellen DeGeneres Show." "No one puts her in a corner."

Lindsay's not in

Forget firing, Donald Trump didn't even hire troubled star Lindsay Lohan for the upcoming season of "Celebrity Apprentice."

"[The Lohans] approached me, and we did talk about it. It's just not the right time," Trump tells Life & Style. "Lindsay has to straighten herself out first."

The new cast does include Lil Jon, Jose Canseco, NeNe Leakes, Marlee Matlin, Lisa Rinna, Meat Loaf, La Toya Jackson, Mark McGrath, Star Jones, Niki Taylor, Dionne Warwick, Gary Busey, David Cassidy, Hope Dworaczyk, Richard Hatch and John Rich. The new season begins March 6 on NBC.
